WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Understand this, first, last and always: the world wants the best thing. It wants your best.

We must be good-natured as sunshine, steadfast as gravitation, and persistent as a Christian's faith.

Faith is God's dynamite; ever more let it go on bombarding igorance and prejudice, prerogative and precedent.

THE PEACE RAINBOW

"OVER THE CLOUDS OF EUROPE I SEE IN AMERICA A RAINBOW."

These words of Lloyd George may prove a prophecy, a forecast of the greatest event the world has known in 1900 years—DISARMAMENT—no more wars.

The man who some months ago declared that "while the recent world war was the greatest in history there would still be another within the next ten years, more deadly, more destructive," may have been mistaken. Few men ever gain a degree of wisdom sufficient to place them beyond the possibility of making mistakes and the progress made by the disarmament conference in Washington carries with it a feeling of conviction that the world at last is coming to its senses; awakening to the fact that nations are not on earth for the purpose of destroying each other— that real progress is made through co-operation, not competition.

With the world all but, if not quite, bankrupt as a result of war, it is high time that an agreement was reached whereby such useless, unreasonable destruction may be done away with for all time and it does seem as if Secretary of State Hughes had struck the keynote of the sentiment prevailing in the minds of all the peoples of the earth irrespective of tongue.

With the Hughes proposal accepted, there can be but one result and that is disarmament. Such an outcome could not fail to meet the highest approval of Mr. and Mrs. Common People and it would not be worse for those whose millions are made through the implements of destruction than it was for the printers when the Mergenthaler Linotype was invented, or for the glass-blowers when the Machine blower became operative. Other occupations could be found to take the place of those suspended, just as lucrative, possibly more so because the losses saved to those who pay the bills would be a remuneration in which all would share.

Far better that the destructive energy be devoted to constructive occupations— building up agricultural, horticultural, mining, manufacturing and other useful pursuits, making good roads and building comfy, happy homes adjacent to them—and even if the three per cent did not control 77 per cent of the world's wealth, its larger distribution among the other 97 per cent would make better times for all. Less great wealth and less great poverty, would, in a great measure, be putting the Golden Rule to work.

And why not? Several of the biggest manufacturing concerns in the country have proven beyond all question or doubt that the Golden Rule will work in business when properly applied and if it will work in the operation of business it will work in the operation of Governments when it is not boycotted or handicapped by the ever ruling element of selfishness.

Prof. S. F. Emerson, head of the history department of the University of Vermont, speaking before the Unity recently on the subject of "disarmament" gave his audience a number of real thoughts that are well worth thinking about in the most serious manner possible. We quote a few of them:-

"The conference at Washington was the result of a world necessity that could not be denied. The delegates to the conference were under the influence of a great moral impetus, or 'urge,' such as never before permeated any congress of nations in the history of the world."

"One of the marvels of the times was the rapid change of public sentiment toward the conference. The people as a whole had looked forward to the conference as only another gathering for the exercise of diplomatic intrigue. But when Hughes burst his bombshell, the spirit changed and people really began to think about bringing an end to war."

"The old idea of the survival of the fittest as interpreted through war is passing and a wonderful moral impulse is taking its place. No grander or loftier statement was ever made than that which included President Wilson's League of Nations. But it was twisted and turned about until the League of Nations has become much like other treaties in which each nation thinks of nothing but its own interests."

"Through all the meetings of the conference there has appeared a real sincere longing to bring about harmony and peace in the world. Although the members of the conference may deny this impulse and start their old diplomatic discussions, they are now working under a 'great moral urge' such as has never expressed itself in any other world congress."

After citing many reasons for these and many other thoughts expressed, Prof. Emerson said:- "And all this indicates the necessity of a conference to bring men together to readjust society. Something must be done for the salvation of the world. It is necessary to form some kind of a concert among powers of the world which will enable men to stand together to fight against the demoralizing influences. We are facing the prophecy of a new world."

Lack of space prevents other interesting quotations, but we would add that it is our belief that when men who are a power in the world begin to think such thoughts and have such feelings there is some promise of the coming of that change for the betterment of world conditions people have been hoping for, for centuries.

A BASKET LUNCHEON AT THE B. C. U. H. S

Ladies and gentlemen of this community, you are invited to attend the basket luncheon at the B.C.U.H.S. building, December 16, 1921. Come Ladies and bring a lunch basket with your name in it and lunch enough for two. The lunches will be raffled off and the gentlemen who bid highest gets each basket, then must eat with the one whose name is in the lunch box. Come, bring a pocketful of money and help the B.C.U.H.S.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB MEETS

At the meeting of the Boulder Creek Improvement Club last Monday night it was decided to make no change in the time of meeting of the club.

The meeting was called to order by president Gordon and a pleasantly profitable evening was enjoyed by those present as a result of the general discussions.

The discussions were quite generally participated in by the members and the subjects calculated to promote the get together spirit and make all present feel that the club has come to stay, its mission being an open forum for the exchange of ideas that will be beneficial to the community and serve as a means of getting in closer touch with our fellowmen.

We can hardly expect a mature club from one of such recent establishment, but we are growing fast.

The Welfare Committee is planning another chance to say hello to each other and enjoy some good eats. We hope to have a mighty interesting community night the first of the New Year.

Community Mention.

A new bungalow has been added to the Gibbs property, on lot back of Hotel Alpine, it is covered with redwood bark and has a green roof with the natural redwood sides which makes a very artistic structure. The "no vacancy sign was out before the cottage was completed, and is now occupied by one "Judy". The architect may be consultted during office hours at Hotel Alpine, Boulder Creek.

The P. T. A. meets on Wednesday afternoon next week at four o'clock in the library. Everybody come.

Mr. Moody is selling his place next to St. Michaels church; but he and Mrs. Moody will remain in town we are glad to report.

The Washington Hotel on Main street has been purchased and torn down by Nestor J. Mc Abee who will erect in its place a thoroughly complete and up-to-date Garage.

HARD TIMES PARTY

On Wednesday evening of last week the High School Stuedats gave a "hard times" dance. The manual training shop took the place of the old time barn. Corn stocks around supporting pillars and a pile of staw made the scene somewhat realistic especially when two small girls and a kitten settled down on the haycock. Dancing and games made up the program, but the one drawing card in which all partook with enthusiasm was the Newlin "Cider". My, but it was first class likewise the popcorn balls that were served.

WEDDING BELLS

Romance is ever among us and now and then we are thrilled by a happy romance in real life.

Wilbur T. Ralston and Miss Edna Thurber were married Wednesday afternoon in Santa Cruz by Judge Houck The bride was formerly of Santa Cruz and Wilbur is one of our local young men; he graduated from the local high school; was one of our soldier boys who served overseas in the world war, and since his return has become a business man, being one of the firm of S. Ralston and Son.

We certainly wish the young couple a long and happy married life and a cozy home in Boulder Creek.

REBEKAH'S INITIATION

The following were Initiated into the Rebekah Lodgi at Boulder Creek last Monday night; Messers Holm, Carpentar, Waltrip and Roderiquez. Two other gentlemen were among the candidates who were to have appeared were namely Messers Wilber Ralston and Johanson. Later we heard as may read in another section that Mr. Ralston had a very important engagement—wedding preparations—. We have not heard Mr. Johanson's excuse

PERSONALS

Mr. W. E. Haynes of San Jose came up over the week end looking after the Elks site on east Park Ave. which is being cleared for the Club House to be erected this spring.

Among the new arrivals at Hotel Alpine are Mr. A. S. De La Roza of Gibbs, who came down to spend the holidays.

Mr. Fred A. Moses of Oakland, came down in response to a call from the Middleton family, to look after his bussiness while he is ill.

Mr. Joselyn from Oakland, looking into saw milling, and incindentally visiting his old home, which he found greatly changed. Some of the old settlers no doubt remember the Joselyn family.

Mr. R. A. Livermore entertained at Hotel Alpine Thanksgiving day. Covers were laid for five, and a dilicious turkey dinner was served.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkinson and her daughter Clista from Oakland, spent the week end with Mrs. Wilkinson's brother, Mr. Geo. Gordon and family.

Will and Joe Funge have returned a week's stay in San Francisco.

Waldo Guichard of Ben Lomond has been ill but is now recovering.

Mr. Lyons has purchased a place of Mrs. Loffland. We are glad to have familes buying homes here.

HOW MODEST

"I never knew until to-day how smart a fellow George was."
"Why how do you know?"
He told me so himself."
—Houston Post.

Don't forget the Christmas Fair to be held on Dec. 16, at the B.C.U.H.S. Stunts and plays are to be given by each class which judging by the enthusiasm shown promises much laughter and success.

A number of basket ball games have been scheduled by Athletic Manager, Dean Johnson. The first one is with the Watsonville Y.M.C.A. to be played here in Boulder Creek, at the Rink, 8 p.m. on December 9th. The admission is 35 cents per ticket. A very exciting game is expected.

SEQUOIA ITEMS

The ground is moist enough to plow and the farmers are waiting for the weather to clear to start in.

Mr. Ernest Omnes has accepted a position for the holidays in Watsonville as window trimmer at Ford and Sanborns.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. M. Foy spent the week end recently with their son, C. E. Foy and family.

It has just recently come to notice that Mr. Melville Moncrief, son of David Moncrief, and an associate have bought one of the largest transfer businesses in Honolulu. Their fifteen year lease calls for $250.00 a month. Other details of the business are in like proportion. Having been in business in Honolulu for many years, Mr. Moncrief knows business conditions there thoroughly. Moreover he is one of the type of business men who believe in bringing the Golden Rule into business— an enlightened selfishness if you please. He will succeed.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

St. Peter had had a busy day and Gabriel had not loafed any himself. Throngs had visited the gate and been looked over. Those who answered their questionnaires successfully and satisfactorily were admitted. For others it was, "Going down!" Finally, when the books were about to be closed for the day, a soul that had belonged to a newspaper man when on earth came puffing along. "What'll we do with him—the books are practically closed for the day?" said Peter to Gabriel. Before Gabriel had had time to answer the shade of the journalist timidly spoke up: "You might label me 'Too Late to Classify,' and let me in anyway. I can't go to the other place—I forgot my fire badge."—Philadelphia Ledger.

LIFE'S LESSONS

Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

WHEN we've lived and studied life's lessons,
And wept an worked and smiled,
We learn that the greatest teacher,
Comes as a little child.

All day long they had tagged me
From room to room, till I,
Worn to the bone of patience,
Let out a crusty cry.

"Can't I go anywhere, kiddies,
Without you at my heels!
Why in the world do you do it?"—
You know how a fellow feels.

When followed as if by a shadow,
Afraid he'll be tripped from behind,
His manner is not the gentlest,
And his voice is not most kind!

"Why in the world do you do it?"
In a voice to make them fear you!
And with trembling lip he answered:
"Because we love to be near you."

When we've lived and studied life's lessons,
And wept and worked and smiled,
We learn that the best companion
Is found in a little child.

BEN LOMOND NEWS

Mr. and Mrs, C. A. Bradshaw who returned to Ben Lomond after spending Thanksgiving with relatives in Oakland, left last Monday in their new Chevrolet for a trip south thru agricultural districts in the interests of the fertilizer company in San Jose with whom Mr. Bradshaw has secured a position as salesman.

Keith Burgess, a graduate of the B. C. U. H. S. who is now at Leland Stanford University, spent the Thanksgiving recess visiting friends in Ben Lomond. He spent Wednesday evening of lsst week attending the Hard Times party at the High School. He found some time to devote to the pursuit of game, shook hands with all his old friends and was the guest of Post Master and Mrs. W. H. Nicholson.

Mr. A. Bjolstad of San Fransisco, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Lyng Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Lyng and Miss Mary Lee Moore motored to San Jose Monday, taking Miss Catharine Rogers with them for a visit to her mother, Mrs. Clara Rogers.

R. T. Lyng spins along over the new highway in one of the swellest cars, having just purchased a new Lexington. The new machines around Ben Lomond would make quite an auto parade and we wonder who the next new purchaser may be.

When the high north wind of last Sunday had completed its drive for the day, the highway and pavements in the vicinity of F. A. Dickinson's store were completely carpeted with leaves from the big trees, which, loosened by a few nights of freezing, only needed a good breeze to make them fall.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Dickinson are spending a short time in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Brooks motored to Palo Alto where they spent the Thanksgiving holiday with their daughter, Mrs. Whitney.

Dr. and Mrs. Knowles are closing their home, The Falls, for the winter and returning to Alameda.

The Ben Lomond Steam Laundry will be opened Monday, December 5th by Mr. Reuff himself. (Nuff Ced) with apologies) Adv34.

CARD of THANKS

About a month ago, attracted by the beautiful scenery of the San Lorenzo Valley, I decided to re-open the Boulder Creek Bakery which had been closed for several years, when of course everybody had to depend on Bakery Goods brought in from outside towns,

I take this means of heartily thanking those who have patronized my effort to re-establish the Bakery, which to Judge by the number, I believe I have by using the very best materials, been able to turn out the superior quality of goods, which together with a clean place and courteous service have given satisfaction to a majority of the people.

Now regarding the use of shipped in Bakery Goods in town. Do you ever look at it this way? How much money does the San Francisco or Santa Cruz bakery spend here in town? Absolutely none.

I have spent here in town during the first month's operation of the Bakery, more than $300.00 cash for help, wood, fruit and other things, and will continue to spend similar sums every month, which will be more or less to the benefit of all in town.

Therefore I beg of you in the interest of the home town, do not consider the Home Bakery as an emergency hospital; that is, if you cannot get it anywhere else— "Oh! well, we can get it at the Bakery," or to come to the Bakery with a loaf of shipped in bread under your arm and ask for a dime's worth of doughnuts, if you can get them hot.

If you wish the home Bakery to succeed, co-operate with the baker and insist that your store keeper handles bread and other bakery goods from the Home Town Bakery, and you can always depend on receiving the same superior quality goods as at the Bakery counter, which are just as good as any and better than others, and fresh every day.

Yours for Business

Julius Kirsten Boulder Creek Bakery.

P. S. If I buy out of town and you buy out of town, what will become of our town?

The December meeting of the Ben Lomond Improvement Club will be held in the Club House next Tuesday evening, December 6, at eight o'clock. No committee was appointed at the last meeting to prepare a program of entertainment, but there will be some things to censider that will be well worth while for those who can make it possible to attend.

People are all thinking about things that will help Ben Lomond and if they are given voice it may be possible to accomplish some things that will greatly help the community. We are all members of the committee to see that we have ourselves present at the Improvement Club meeting.

Ernest Franklin of Los Angeles, a grandson of Mrs. Franklin of this vilag underwent a very serious operation last week. Latest reports said he was holding his own tho very ill.

MORE STUDENTS OF VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

Vocational teaching is becoming more and more popular in State colleges, if the increase in the number of students taking work in this department of Iowa State College is an indication of conditions in other such institutions. During the nine years the number registering in courses preparing for vocational teaching has grown from 100 to 999. The course in high school problems, taken by 9 students in 1912-13 was taken by 243 in 1920-21. Registration in other courses in this department, such as Principles of Vocational Education, Methods of Teaching Vocational subjects, and The Industrial High School, has also increased steadily, and several new courses have been added, including Teaching Home Economics, Research in Education, and Teaching Manual Training.

PRINTING

As Dr. Richard G. Boone, Professor of Education, University of California, recently said: "For the formal education of all the past, Printing has been the school's right arm; it is the one most wholesome means of culturizing and humanizing life."

Printing is no longer in the experimental stage as an instument in teaching. It is an established device, as is proven by the fact that over 2500 printing outfits have been installed in public schools. This list is daily growing larger.
